What's New In?

This is the end product of 2 years of work, mostly because of an experiment in randomization and not really a full project because I was to lazy to continue it. I wanted to create a screensaver of an endless snowball fight, and I managed to do so. It's not finished but I have not had time to finish it. One of the possibilities I had to make the effects random is that I used the new RandomFunction from Flash 8, and I tested the program on my sisters computer, this was not easy to program because I could not use the XNB format from Flash 8. So I made it with the Flash 8 SDK and could only use XNB files, so if you don't have Flash 8 you can't use this. It's a screensaver for boys and girls to make it age appropriate, so boys can play with their friends and girls with their friends. The frames are randomly created, so everytime you start it you can see it differently. Sorry for the lack of information, I don't know how much to give because I'm not sure if this was a good product. ========== ========== ========== Version 1.0 - Wrote this Screensaver in an evening. This version contains:

Animation engine with four states Sound Fix for MX Player crashing. Will not crash Macromedia MX Player. No Randomize the animation May 18th, 2005 - Version 1.0 released ==========
