"My Summer Car" is an open-ended life simulator/car game. You will start the game driving the project car somewhere to the north of Helsinki - which is the only substantial thing for you to know until the game starts. The rest is entirely up to the player's imagination. You will be given car, engine and many more free components in the game. Initially, you start with no money, but if you have gathered enough money from random events on the road, you can use them to buy new parts. You will be required to build a working car, you will also be required to keep it in working condition if you want to be able to drive and compete in various rally events in some distant future. You will be required to find various random jobs on the road to earn money. As you are on your own, you can choose what you want to do from a wide range of choices. Because of the open-ended nature of the game, you can make a project car which will challenge you in the most different ways. Of course, as you may well expect, car parts are not easy to come by in real life, so you will need to overcome some difficulty or try to make a huge investment in the car to have real start in the game. In order to have a fully-working car, you need to follow the advice you are given in game from the project car's maintenance manual. How to Play: There is no level editor in this game. The game is designed to be played using only keyboard and mouse. In order to drive, you need to hold shift key and press left mouse button. In order to park the car, you need to hold shift key and press right mouse button. In order to play the game, you need to hold shift key and press any random key of the keyboard (including random combinations of keys). You also can make mods for the game (You may find using Cheat Engine, or other cheat databases, and FASA Car Mechanic or all sorts of cheat generation tools from internet. i.e.: Cheat Engine, FASACarMC, Car Mechanic or any other cheat database, cheating programs, Hints on typing keys etc. You are also encouraged to create the game yourself, i.e. modifying this (or any other game) to your specifications, i.e. changing the mod graphics, changing the number and name of the cars, changing the mod settings

Features Key:

- We should get one thing straight from the beginning – since 2010 we’ve been obsessed with space exploration and rockets. All this time, and we love this game so much, and were so determined to it that Achievement Lurker: We Give Up! is our very own plane to the stars. All this time, we have been living in a big black hole of Achievement Lurker: We Give Up! that sucked all space dog nerds right in. We have just given up on this story, let us try to show you the most glorious features – interstellar travel by Achievement Lurker: We Give Up!.

TeamRising Game Dev Blog: Team Rising Social Networks: published:20 Sep 2012 views:3677 Some people may have never seen a shark, and for those who have, they may think that sharks must always be close to the water because they always have the presence of ocean in their body. But it is not true. Due to the shark's great mobility, it can live in many different environments at the same time because of their tail fin. Therefore, sharks are extremely diverse and possess a great number of morphs. A pattern has now appeared among the sharks for quite some time. Everything that happens in nature happens at a particular time and also follows a pattern of trends. Sharks produce their pups in the summer, they grow their tails in the fall and they grow their teeth in the winter. Now, this winter has revealed an interesting trend that some shark species are developing unique and very big teeth for hunting big prey. Divers have also found that predators seem to be consuming more and more fish with each passing day how can that be? Doesn't this indicate a broad population increase in these predators? What has caused this phenomenon? Has the global environment changed due to global warming and if yes, how will it change in the future? Should we be worried? Look at it as if you are a species and you would like to survive.

Aquarium - Aquarium is a water-based life-size mini environment often to be supplied with water and other various necessities for the animals to live. It is designed to offer a natural setting as well as simulating natural light and temperature. Aquariums are commonly used for lab and school settings, displaying a wide variety of different animals and often are utilised for child education and enrichment.

- Pet trade - There has been a huge rise in the demand for shark fins, and thus the level of shark catches have gradually increased. Although most sharks are not captured and killed in the wild for their fins, the situation is not that same for the most popular shark species that are captured in large amounts in the wild. It is worth noting that the demand for shark fins and other products

What's new:

: Owl I had to reboot, so most of what's been going on is heard from Alice. Owieshimmywhathankyouthat (Oliver C. Twombly) was a whiny boy who started the organization and one of the police who is involved. No idea what group he was a part of. Owl, or someone in the account (If that's possible with a motion comic) e-mailed a stamped envelope to (Fernandez Buchanan or whatever) and Rooker. Alice, or whoever wrote this, never leaves a trail in her e-mails nor her blog. It's all in the shortcut links. The writer used a third party webmail account since the recipient couldn't be exposed and didn't want their ISP to know what they were doing. Nader, Hans, Phoi.. whatever their real names are, took a wild guess. They don't know who made the e-mail, but if they didn't check their web mail, they may find out eventually. The link goes to the password-protected page. naderloop, I think. Remember that this page was the genesis of Antique Park. Alas, we didn't learn what the person who wrote the e-mail wanted to say. Somehow, the e-mail got deleted. So we have to assume that it wasn't Nader, since she didn't read the e-mail until weeks later. That means we probably won't know what the deal was. Curiously, it has been deleted from the site. It wasn't sent to Owieshimmywhathankyouthat either. We'll see if we find out what it said. People on other boards have tried to figure it out, but without any inside knowledge, they got nothing. I'm not sure what this is. It's not a real password, because the account holder uses a different password for each different website. There's no doubt whatever it is will be revealing, since it's all highly personal and in some cases, private. Let's see.. Who can explain to me what this is? You think you know? Please, comment and let's have a discussion.
